The Origins and Evolution of Desk Blotters

Desk blotters originated in the late 19th and early 20th centuries as essential accessories in busy office settings. Primarily made of leather, cork, or heavy paper, they served to protect desk surfaces from ink stains, especially when fountain pens and inkwells were common. They also provided an organized writing surface, often decorated with advertisements, company logos, or artistic motifs.

During their heyday, blotters became a canvas for branding and advertising, often featuring colorful lithographs or embossed logos. They were both practical and promotional, making them a staple on most executive desks.

Transition to Modernity and Collectibility

With the advent of typewriters, ballpoint pens, and digital technology, the functional necessity of blotters diminished.
